

Abstract:

Methods and systems for automated memory test modeling generation and validation are provided. Information supplied by a graphical user interface is used to generate a customized memory primitive. The memory primitive subsequently 5 undergoes a two phase validation to test for correct functioning.